

Under passenger cover (below Hatch opening switch)

Cooling Fans Control Unit

These wires run from the Console and are not connected to anything on both ends. Colors are White, Green, Yellow, Brown, then two thin wires Blue and Red. They are "surrounded" by a copper mesh

These connectors are not connected to anything. Each has two wires .
One connector is Yellow with Purple and Brown + Black wires
The other connector is a Red one with Purple + White and Purple +Brown wires
I suspect they were originally used to connect speakers to the Amplifier (which was supposed to be in this area?). The PO have installed a modern amplifier at the back , and has some wires from this area connected to it (see blue "speaker type" wires).